History & Architecture

Created a Royal Burgh in 1548, Falkland, with the Royal Palace at its heart, is rich in history and architecture. The Palace, built by the Stewart kings, was brought to its full Renaissance glory by James V in the early 16th century.

With houses dating from the 17th century, the paniled roofs, crows stepped gables, outside stairs and marriage lintels all contribute to Falkland's wide variety of architecture styles.

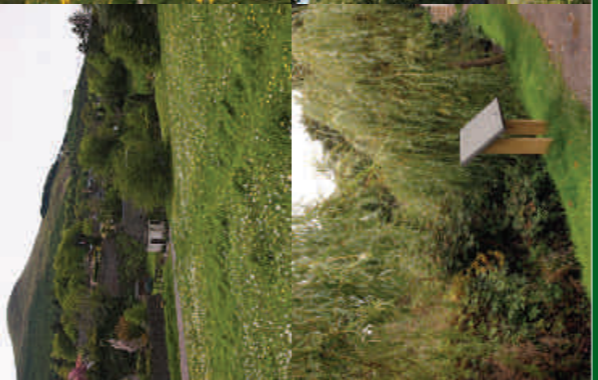

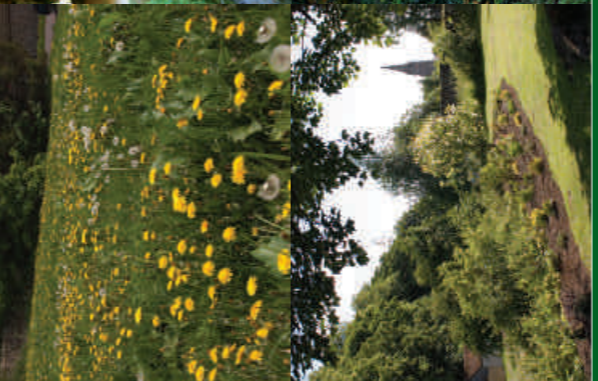

Falkland Estate

Discover ancient rock, sudden darkness and burbling cascades in Falkland's nineteenth century lost valley with miles of reclaimed paths.

And experience contemporary stewardship in action as we revive this designed, working landscape and its wildlife for now and the future.

Green Spaces

Visit Balmoe and the Clough to explore Falkland's hidden corners and discover green spaces managed by volunteers and rangers for their amenity and wildlife.

Falkland in Bloom

Conservation

Let's ensure we preserve what's really worthwhile in our community.

Biodiversity

Let's make sure all living and growing things keep their rightful place around us

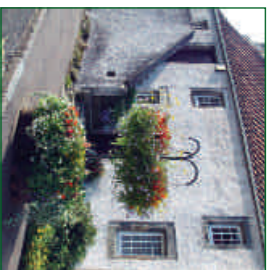

Sustainability

Let's plant for the future as well as the present

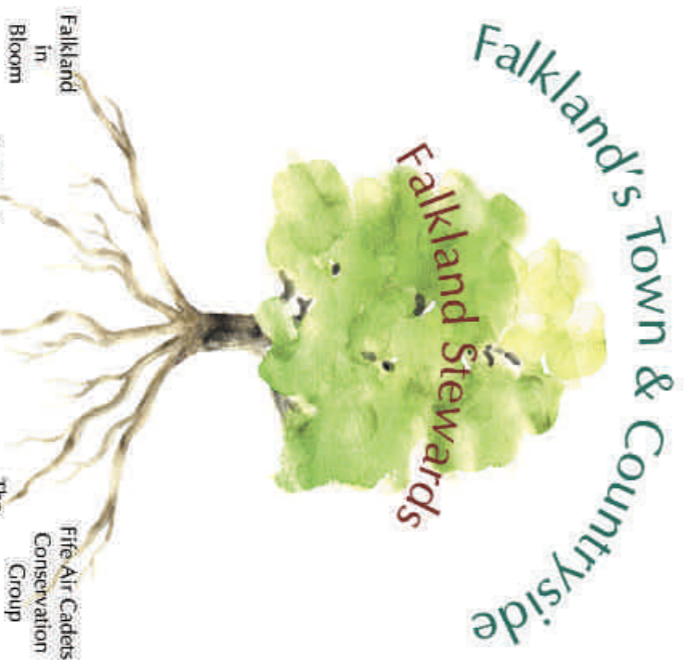

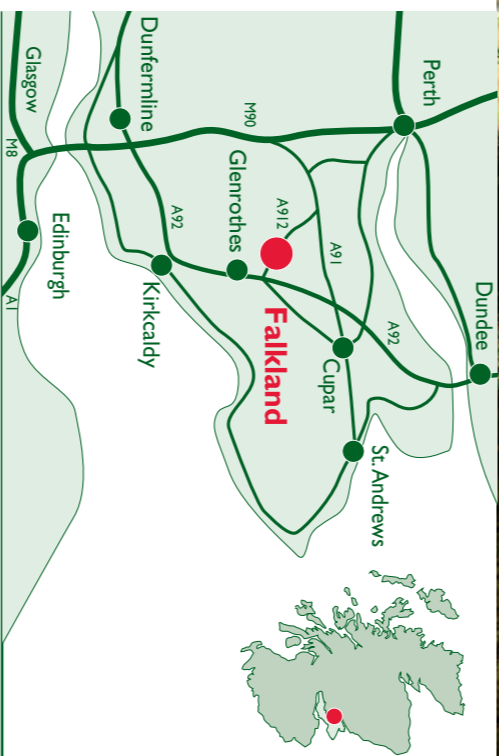

Floriculture

Let's strike a balance over how we enhance our historical architecture

Community

Let's get everyone involved

We hope that you enjoy your visit to Falkland and will see some of the 50,000 plants we grow annually while enjoying the many aspects of Falkland we have highlighted on the map.

Falkland in Bloom is an entirely voluntary organisation.

Donations to help fund our work are most appreciated and can be made via the website or by cheque made payable to Falkland in Bloom and sent to : The Secretary, Mill Lade House, Mill Wynd, Falkland KY15 7BT.
